

Module 1

Welcome to Max

Max International® is in the life changing business. We do this with our patented proprietary products and wealth creating compensation plan. Together with our leaders we have created a training platform that will help you reach whatever level of success you are committed to achieving. Move through each training module by watching the video and downloading the corresponding worksheets. These fourteen New Associate Training Modules teach you the foundational skills that will build your business. In the worksheets you will find meaningful specifics from the video and pertinent activities to help you comprehend, practice, and begin using the skills taught in that training module. As soon as you watch each video and complete each worksheet, you should contact your sponsor, who is your mentor, to ask for any clarifications or to share what you wrote on your worksheet. Everything you are about to learn is proven to help you be successful. Our goal is to help you reach the Bronze level and these modules are the foundational blocks that will get you there and beyond.

The Duplication Cycle—Your Key to Success

There are four core activities that drive duplication at Max: Prospecting; Inviting; Follow Up; and Trust. You will learn these four essential activities, and the principles that support them, throughout this New Associate Training. As you build relationships you must establish trust. Prospects will not share their needs, accept your invitations, or partner with you at Max unless you develop trust with them.

- Prospecting allows you to meet new people, learn more about everyone on your list, and uncover what their needs are.
- Inviting is when you connect the need that a prospect has expressed with a tool that informs them why Max represents a solution.
- Follow Up is when you continue building a relationship based on trust while assessing where your prospect is on their journey toward full engagement with Max.
- You repeat this cycle as often as needed. The goal is to build a trusting, long-term relationship with your prospect which will lead them to becoming either an Associate or a Preferred Customer.
